Working program selector

A switch with an infinite number of possibilities to make any operation easy

The working program selector enables the operator to immediately select the type of activity to be carried out. This result has been obtained following years of study on the way in which operators work. Comac has therefore succeeded in drastically simplifying the instrument panel, whilst continuing to offer the same choice of functions.

Depending on the model of the machine, turning the selector enables the operator to select traction only, scrubbing only, vacuum only or all the functions.

This technology is at its best when combined with the touch screen display, which guarantees an even better user experience.

BENEFITS

- User-friendly
- Less training necessary in order to use the floor scrubber
- Immediate change of function, automatically managed by the machine
